

Do you know what Shit Flow Diagrams are?

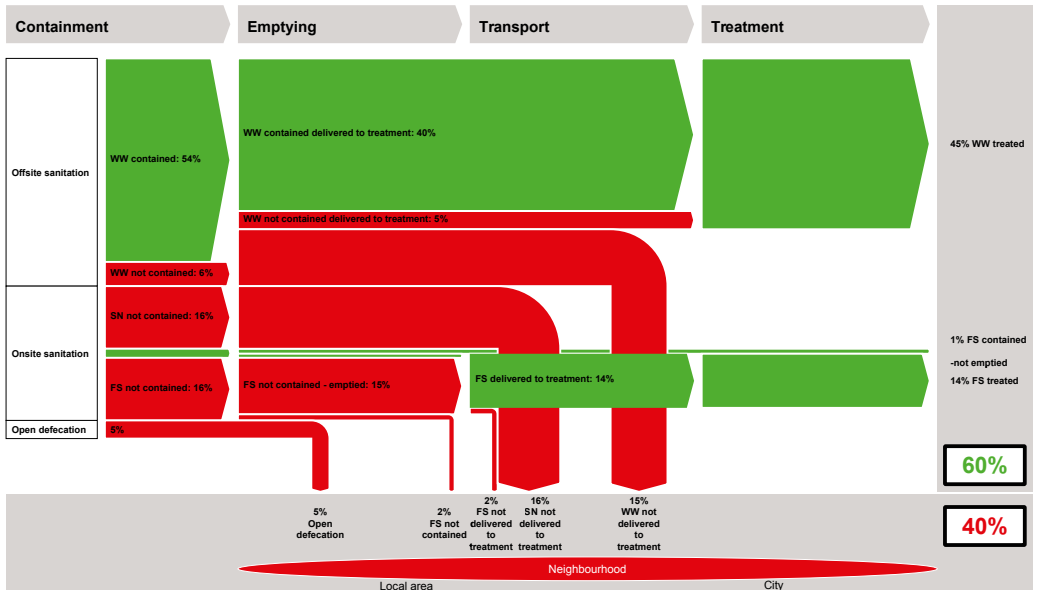

A Shit Flow Diagram (SFD) is an easy-to-understand advocacy and decision-support tool that summarizes and presents what happens to excreta in urban areas in a concise report.

An SFD goes beyond this visual representation to also include an assessment of the delivery of sanitation services in the town or city and the record of data sources.

At the World Water Week, you will have the chance to learn from our experience.

Visit us at the SuSanA booth at the exhibition centre (n. 44).
